In a short time Atlanta will have two more first-class theaters. We hear of two more golf clubs, while the municipal links are to be extended to accommodate more players.

And that is only two of the recreation and amusement diversions that now take the attention of people in the afternoons and evenings.

The serious time of the day is the morning. It begins with the arrival of the morning paper with the full news of the world and advertisements carrying the offerings of merchants for that day's business.

Always read the advertisements in The Constitution. There s always some bargain that will interest you and you can make your purchases before noon and have the afternoon for any sort of entertainment or diversion.

Roman Catholic hierarchy in this country on the other.

The Knights of Columbus made formal demand on the administration to intervene in Mexico to put an end to the persecution of American citizens in the warfare between church and state, the appeal being based on allegations that Americans had suffered a variety of indignities, personal injuries and deprivation of property, and the Knights of Columbus will act swiftly to demonstrate to the administration and to the country that its demand for intervention was well founded is not doubted. It is understood that the great Roman Catholic organization took its formal action at the Philadelphia meeting in the light of a staggering indictment of the Calles government, an indictment composed of a multitude of counts, each one of which was based on a specific injury suffered at the hands of the Mexican government by a specified citizen of the United States. The indictment and schedule of injuries and indignities the Knights of Columbus are expected to make gublic in defense of their position.

States intervene in Mexico. The Protestants were already beginning to defend the Calles government and take issue with the Catholies in the warrant for American intervention. Possibly the president did not like the prospect of a possibility of getting into a jam between Catholies and Protestants on the Mexican question. At any rate he caused Mr. Flaherty to be shooed away. Mr. Flaherty was informed that his proper course would be to present the resolutions of the knights to Secretary Kellogg and discuss the situation with him. Then, if Mr. Flaherty were not entirely satisfied with his conference with Mr. Kellogg he was informed he could come here and the president would be glad to receive him. The Mexican situation was only one of a number of foreign policy matters discussed by Mr. Coolidge and the secretary of state. Mr. Kellogg reported that Uruguay had notified Washington it will accept the senate reservations to adherence by the United States to the world court protocol. This makes four nations that have agreed to accept our entrance to the world court on our terms. The other nations will not answer till after their conference next month at Geneva on the matter. # Atlantan Finds Tube of Radium elusive radium bits that had been lost at those places.

Professor Edwards has been connected with the Georgia School of Technology for about twenty-eight years, and has been called to many parts of Georgia and other sections to aid in the recovery of lost radium. The first case in which his ability made possible the recovery of some of that precious metal was at the Grady hospital in Atlanta. At that time, as in his latest success at New Orleans, Professor Edwards found the radium in a pile of debris. Professor Edwards has been summoned five or six times since being connected with Georgia Tech to assist in the search for radium. The latest call, prior to that of New Orleans, was from Thomasville, Ga., about six months ago. Previous to that he took his electroscope with him to Rome, Ga., and Americus, Ga., to reclaim elusive radium bits that had been lost at those places.

Th. sensitive electroscope was used with success by Professor Edwards on other similar occasions. It is an exceedingly simple instrument in appearance, consisting of a strip of gold leaf doubled over and suspended from a metal rod inside a glass jar. When in the neighborhood of any electroradiating substance, such as radium, the ends of the gold leaf repel each other and the divergence can be seen. Frofessor Edwards will return to Atlanta from New Orleans some time today.

All Georgia Roads Declared Passable In Spite of Rains

All Georgia roads are passable, ac-cording to a statement issued Monday by Oscar L. Haymond, secretary of the Atlanta Motor club, in answer to ountry.

Mr. Haymond stated that through Mr. Haymond stated that through some unknown source the impression had gotten abroad that many roads in Georgia were rendered impassable by the recent heavy rains. "This is an error." Mr. Haymond stated. "While rain did affect some of the unimproved roads and some of these under construction, none of the roads have been totally out of condition for automobile traffic." Detailed highway information is accessible at the Atlanta Motor club headquarters at 404 West Peachtree, Mr. Haymond announced.

REGISTER PROTEST ON MIDNIGHT SHOWS

A "solemn protest against the introduction into our city life of aftermidnight shows and after-midnight activities of all kinds" was made Monday by the officers of the Inter-Sunday School council of Fulton and Dekalb counties. The resolutions alleged that attendance of midnight shows called for stimulants which wreck the health and morals of young people.

"We consider it impossible for young people to render an honest day's service to their employers and themselves when they do not have a full night's rest, and will do all in our power to influence the young people of the entire community to save themselves from this megace," the resolutions read.

A special meeting was called to draw up the resolution condemning midnight shows and midnight activities.

At the Elberton debate Talmadge was allowed only 20 minutes in rebuttal and stated at that time he would finish his answers in the press.

Talmadge declared that if Brown and his campaign manager, James D. Opinion Quoted. Mr. Carswell quoted a written opinion on the matter of highway mileage remaining to be allotted. This opinion was prepared, he said, by Jones. Park & Johnson, of Macon, one of the largest and most highly respected law firms in the state. Briefly, as it was read by Mr. Carswell, the opinion recited the several state-aid road laws enacted by the legislature, including the act of 1922 which gave the bond authority to construct and maintain state-aid roads in and through towns and cities of not more than 2.500 people.

MAYOR SIMS' VETO IS TWICE UPHELD PLAN DIVORCE

New York, August 16.—(49)—Al Jolson, black face comedian, returning from Paris today, brought with him evidence to uphold his denials that he and his wife were planning a divorce. "Look at that trunk," he said, waving at a huge wicker enclosed trunk on the pier. "It is filled with magnificent gowns and lingerie. They are all for Mrs. Jolson. Does that sound like trouble in the nir?"

Jolson said there was nothing significant in the fact that his wife departed from Europe a week ahead of him. He explained he believes it is "cheaper to remain married," because a court action might affect his stage career and his income as a comedian. of that body.

The first was a proposal to allow Chief of Construction William A. Hansell and Henderson Hallman, secretary of the bond commission, to administer expenditure of $100,000 sewer bond money in a triangulation survey of Atlanta and its suburbs. Another plan will be submitted at the next meeting of council, it was said.

The other was condemnation of several sidewalk stretches in the second ward, which Chief Hansell, after a personal inspection, declared were in fairly good shape.

to 9.

Councilman White attempted to put through a measure which would have required a city-wide favorable referendum to sell, deed or otherwise dispose of any park property held by the city. He declared that the parks of the city are sacred, and should be safeguarded in any manner possible. The entire park committee backed the proposition, but council contended that the park committee and council itself could sufficiently protect the people's interests without "worrying the public with special elections." ### Plans Complete For Reopening Of Stock Show

New York engagements, he said here Sunday.

It is probable, Mr. Semon said Monday, that it will be necessary to delay opening at the Forsyth until Labor Day on account of the fact that it will be almost impossible for certain of the leading players to finish Gotham work and get here in time for proper rehearsing.

"We are going to start with a hang," he said, "and keep it up. The best talent is now available and Atlantans are in humor for the finest caliber of stock shows. That is what I propose to give and nothing less." It is expected that the complete cast of players will be announced later this week.

CITY TIME CHANGE DELAY APPROVED BY CITY COUNCIL

Atlantans will not vote on the proposed change of time for the city, if the democratic committee follows recommendations of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, which Monday met the approval of city council.

Council several weeks ago voted to ask the committee to place the proposed time change on the official ballot in a city-wide referendum, but the chamber of commerce contended that sufficient and propert study and im-chamber of commerce contended that sufficient and propert study and importance could not be attached to the time change question with the large number of city races slated to be held September 22. It, therefore, asked that this be removed from the ballot and be settled later.

If the change were adopted, Atlantas would advance their clocks one hour and operate under eastern standard time instead of the central standard time instead of the central standard time, under which the city operates now.

FOOD DEALERS FETE

Entertainment Is Planned at Lakewood Park Wednesday.

All the rest of Atlanta may go hungry Wednesday, unless it watches its step and lays in its day's supply of groceries in advance, but that part of Atlanta which makes, distributes and sells Atlanta's food is going to be well fed and well entertained.

Wednesday is set aside this week as the one day of the year when every person connected with the food business is going to picnic at Lakewood amusement park, with a program of entertainment and frolic that gram of entertainment and frolic that will set a new precedent for ontings in Georgia.

Special prices for the rides and all nusements in the park at the regular half-rate granted for large picnics, in addition to the children's "nickel matinee" concession regularly made on Wednesday afternoons.

The ballet of the Atlanta Light Opera company has been signed up under the supervision of Leonard White, to supply a colorful dance divertisement as one feature of free entertainment for the evening, in addition to a jubilee songfest by the Macedonia jubilee singers, an airplane exhibition by Captain A. B. McMullen, and a series of other spectacular and alluring entertainments.

A 10-piece orchestra is to blay for dancing in the casino throughout the afternoon and the Lakewood Symphony orchestra will play in the evephony orchestra will play in the evening.

All manufacturers, bottlers, bakers, canners, brokers, salesmen, distributors, wholesalers or retailers of food and all their employees are "in" on the frolic. Stores will be closed for the entire day in some parts of town and before 1 o'clock throughout the city.

ARKWRIGHT SPEECHES COMPILED IN VOLUME

A 386-page handsomely bound volume of "Addresses by Preston 8.
Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company," is just off the press. The book is published for the employees of the utilities corporation and sets forth in detail the business principles which have guided the company since the beginning of the administration of its president.

Mr. Arkwright is frequently called upon to address public gatherings on various public utility subjects and his speeches cover a wide range of topics including street railway, electricity gas, public relations, government ownership and others.

The purpose of the publication is to increase the pride in their service of the thousands of employees who have requested it, and to stimulate greater enthusiasm in the principles of public utility service. It is a valuable textbook on general utilities service.

They are the keystone to development, the bedrock of substance. Why hamper them by inside school board factionalism that is unworthy of a back-woods village, and without one substantial feature of commendation?

Prejudice and bigotry, and petty litics and narrow factionalism, are the very antithesis of understanding and education and culture and training.

Preludice and narrowness are based on ignorance. Education is to overcome ignorance—to exclude darkness, with light.

Let us hope that the board today may broaden out to unselfish usefulness in a big way-in a way to mmend rather than condemn its record.

DAWES RENEWS FIGHT.

Vice President Dawes, tanned and hardened by a vacation in the Rockies, is back in Chicago preparing to begin again an active campaign against the antiquated oneman filibuster senate rules.

Since he first undertook to condemn what other vice presidentswhose duty it is "to preside over the world's most deliberative body" -have condoned he has learned a great deal from experience. It will be recalled that he spoke to a crowded auditorium in Atlanta several months ago on this subject. He spoke with vigor and conviction. Since that time he has seen the filibuster function to the disgust of the American people. He has held the gavel for hours, for instance, when the junior senator from South Carolina "held the floor" during a long and tedious filibuster while progressive, imperative legislation got scared at us and dashed off. the American people. He has held slowly died in the crush of the Upon its action may hinge the last hours of congress. He has seen democracy crucified by blocs and petty factionalism.

The nation will applaud the vice president's determination to keep the toes of the La Follettes and the Nves and the Wheelers to the fire

Too many democrats are timid in this matter. They are too afraid of their political shadows of illfounded imaginations. We can't do a more constructive thing than to modernize and democratize the United States senate.

"THE DARE-DEVIL."

The distressing tragedy that occurred at Lakewood Sunday afternoon ought to make people think. A great throng of 20,000 had gone to that popular suburban resort to see a man drop to his death. They didn't expect it. Most assuredly they wouldn't invite it. But the mere fact of slowly descending to earth dangling from the rope's end of an opened parachute has no especial thrill. In this case the parachute jumper was to "race" to the surface the airplane from which he leaped. It was to thrill because of the dangers involved-because of the possibility of one or the other tumbling to his death. The people were not disappointed. One of them did tumble to his death. The thousands of spectators were horrified. but they got the real thrill they tingly, but nevertheless outstanding -the thrill of seeing a man die for his daring.

It doesn't pay. Flirting with death in this manner simply to "draw crowds," because the crowds want to be amused by hazards rather than by accomplishments of real intellectual merit, ought to be censured rather than stimulated by public opinion.

There is a thrill possibly in carrying a pistol-a thrill in doing something that the law prohibits, There is a great deal of substance and that has an element of bravado n the indictment of the Anti-Saloon in it. And yet pistols are not made league by Congressman Tinkham, of to hunt with. They are made only Massachusetts, and his demand of to kill people. The person who carries one has no other real purpose gantic political organization make in view. He may not be conscious a "show-down" under the corrupt of it. It may be a sub-conscious motive, but it is unmistakable.

We unconsciously encourage and therefore invite tragedy by capitalizing the hazards that lead to tragedy. The death of young Jimmy pread violations and defiances of Calhoun, the parachute jumper, is lamentable. Sympathy goes out freely to his widow and other loved ones. It ought, with all such tragedies, serve a lesson. Is it necessary for us to jeopardize life and invite death by encouraging such foolish entertainment? Aren't there other amusements of a sounder nature that are equally as inviting and less menacing. Do the people demand the smell and sight of blood to make them pack an amusement park?

According to a legend squeamish folk are fond of reciting, King Victor Emmanuel, first or second, bet his courtiers that if he went without bathing for a month he would amell like a peasant. Of course they pro-tested that a king would smell like a rose regardless. The king won the bet. A great many girls and women, succumbing to the passing craze or fad, have sought advice about "reducing," and from the information they give it is evident that most of them are suffering from that fat feeling and not from obesity. To my mind—and I place good looks second only to good health—these lovely women are just p. p.—not to annoy our skinny readers unnecessarily—and it would be a crime for them to reduce. Generally all they need is a reasonable amount of exercise, such as a daily rendition of the Second Brady symphony in any flat, which sort of takes up the slack and makes 'emfeel trim and compact, if you know what I mean. Any p. p. reader afflicted with that fat feeling may have the complete score of the symphony for the irouble of telling me she wants it and inclosing with her request a stamped addressed envelope.

Boykin to Fight Guardian. Solicitor General John A. Boykin will vigorously protest the appointment of a guardian for Manley on the grounds that if the trust company president was declared insane, he would be taken out of the jurisdiction of the Fulton superior court. An indictment charging felony was returned

A college girl "majoring," if that is the word, in physiology and hygiene, decided to try out my teaching about the use or rather the uselessness of the toothbrush. That is to say, she scrapped the old brush and the odds and ends of dentrifices she had on hand, and worried along for a few weeks without 'em. But she weakened presently and took up anew the support of the brush and paste industry. She said her teeth felt so dirty and became so unbearably foul with accumulated detritus, or some such horrible stuff.

"You called Mrs. Carpender and told her you thought Mr. Hall was killed?" Toolan had asked her four years ago.

"Yes," was Mrs. Hall's answer.

"You knew Mrs. Mills was also missing and probably met with the same fate?"

"I thought that way."

Mills did not think his wife had gone with Dr. Hall. He said "it was not the first time Mrs. Mills had been away at night, but, always before, I had known she was with relatives."

The next morning his wife was still missing so "I went to the church and there I saw Mrs. Hall."

The colloquy, as reported in Mills' testimony, indicates Mrs. Hall believed the pastor and singer had been killed.

"She asked me 'Did you have any sickness at your house last night?"

Mills said. "And I said 'No, but my wife "d not come hom."

"I retired about 11:30 but did not sleep all night," was the statement of Mrs. Hall, made to John Toolan, prosecutor in the original investigation. Toolan had asked her whether she had left the house. Mrs. Hall, according to the statement read into the record Monday, answered:

"Yes, I left at about 8:30 p. m. and then about 2:30 a. m. when I found my husband had not returned. I called my brother and told him Dr. Hall had not come home. The only place I could think of to find him was at the church. I thought he might have fallen asleep there. We went to the church and found the door locked and there were no lights there. # Easy To Gain Weight With Yeast and Iron

New Combination of Yeast With Vegetable Iron Builds Up Weight in Three Weeks

Thin, run-down and underweight men, women and children can improve their health, increase their energy and put on from five to twenty pounds of solid flesh in three weeks. A new combination of yeast vitamines with vegetable iron, renews the action of sluggish blood cells, drives out dangerous body poisons, increases energy and supplies the system with the vitamines that build up weight. For years yeast has been known as a rich vitamine food, but not until we perfected "ironized yeast"-which comes in concentrated tablet form, was it possible to take yeast and iron in the right proportions to build up weight.

Vegetable "Iron" when combined with yeast is quite easy to digest, therefore better for the system. And "yeast" when ironized, be-comes just twice as beneficial as ordinary fresh or cake yeast.

Ironized Yeast tablets are composed of concentrated food elements, therefore they are pleasant to take and free from drug-like effects. It makes no difference how old you are —or how young you are—how long you have been underweight—or how much underweight you are, "ironized yeast" tablets are positively guaranteed to pick you right up, and add from five to twenty pounds of good firm flesh in three weeks' time. If they fail get your money back.

WE THANK YOU!

We take this opportunity of thanking Atlanta for the manner in which it responded to our Midnight Matinee. You did not know what we had in store for you. But still you came in record-breaking numbers. The innovation experiment on our part was an overwhelming success. Veritably, it greatly exceeded our fondest hopes and expectations.

Words hardly express our gratification over the results. Of course the big business pleased us. The happy throngs that came from the theatre with words of praise on their lips, delighted us.

BUT-

most of all, we appreciate the confidence as shown by Atlanta in the HOWARD THEATRE, when it walked up to our box office and paid its good money for a show that it knew absolutely nothing about. This is the finest compli-ment that could be accorded any institution, and we thank all of our friends, who pinned their faith on us.

Patsy Ruth Miller plays the girl who goes back home in this particular case. Miss Miller is a brilliant dramatic actress, a delightful comedienne, and, what is more, can do the Charleston as skillfully as any dancing star. Her performance in this production proves her truly versatile and beautiful.

As Marie Downey, the girl from a small town who follows a handsome matinee idol (Clive Brook) to Broadway, she learns that what was a genuine love affair to her, was only a careless flirtation to him. She becomes a chorus girl, and when she announces her engagement to him, he involves her in a scandal that ruins her reputation but saves the shaking show from financial ruin.

A brilliant cast supports Miss Miller and Clive Brook and includes George O'Hara, Jane Winton. Myrnn Loy and Joseph Dowling, all giving consistently stirring performances.

If you went to the Howard theater last night and got a seat, you were either the manager's first cousin or your last name is Dempsey. The record crowds which fought for admission to the "Midnight Matinee" early Monday morning were repeated Monday night, despite, or because of, the fact that this is "Taka-Chance Week" at the Publix house, and the titles and nature of both the Publix stage offering and the feature picture are not disclosed.

There is a certain informality in the presentation of this attraction that lends to it an unusual appeal. It is vain to attempt to tell you adequately of the fineness of the beauty and the positive enjoyment that compose this, the greatest of the Publix offerings. New York, August 16.—Having twice deferred action on Jack Demp-sey's application for a license to fight Gene Tunney, the license committee of the New York cauliflower commission today hauled off with a wild swing from the heels that not only whacked Dempsey, Tex Rickard and Tunny flush on their respective expectations, but also grazed the attorney general of the state of New York in the region of

The license committee, consisting of William Phelan and D. Walker Wear, finally decided to refuse Dempsey a license to fight anybody but Harry Wills. And when they were naked if they realized that the Hon. Opposed Tunney Bout.

The Messrs. Phelan and Wear are by way of being military men and are known in the corridors of the Flat Iron building where the cauliflower exchange holds its sessions as the Little Colonels. Their committee had led a serene and unimportant existence until a short time ago, when a majority of the cauliflower commission issued Dempsey a certificate of official purity and sanctioned Mr. Texpickard's plan to promote the Dempsey-Tunney fight. James Farley, the chairman and minority member of the auliflower commission, had opposed the Dempsey-Tunney bout and he seemed to be outvoted and beaten until he bethought himself of the little colonels sitting in their in the office down the hall performing harmless exercises with their array of official rubber stamps. Most of these stamps bear the word: "Yes," and they were used for years to approve the recommendations of the cauliflower commission, hoody expressed that the little colonels had a rubber stamp with the word "no" until Mr. Farley enlisted their sympathy in his fight to find employment for Harry Wills.

Even the most expert of the experts, including those who know the mayor personally, were reeling in a manner indicating great befuddlement when the little colonels reached for the hitter to unused rubber stamp this afternoon and banged it down on Dempsey's sapplication leaving a very legible "no" on the face thereof.

Whether Dempsey will fight Tunney or Wills, or nobody, has now become a trivial question compared to the uncertainty that confronts the clean wholesome sports of prize-fighting. Any Dempsey bout is bound to involve gross receipts of about $1,500,000 and there are some very picturesque characters among those reque characters among those re-urceful partisans who insist that ills be given a chance. The cauliommission has sanctioned and Tunney and the license refuses to issue Dempsey despite the fact that the license despite the fact that the totorney general says the license comittee is there to do the bidding of the commission. The row in the governing body begins to give off fumes and it may yet be necessary to call or an investigation. And investigation impromptu box office.

TO HARD WORK

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., August 16. (P)-Jack Dempsey, today settled down to a full program of intensive training for his proposed bout with Gene Tun ney in September.

The possibility of Dempsey having to go to court for a license, caused no abatement in training plans. Nor did t result in any more noticeable change in the plans of the challenger, accord ing to word from Tunney's camp at Lake Pleasant.

The Dempsey followers would make no comment on the license situation when they read of the action of George E. Brower, member of the state athletic commission, in placing the situation in the hands of the attorney general for a ruling as to the li-tion in the lands of the attorney general for a ruling as to the license ocmmittee, declared by the athletic commission to be eligible in every way. Dempsey has placed all the facts in his possession before the commission and will not go to New York again. The only comment forthcoming from the Tunney camp was:

"Dempsey will get his license all right, if he has to go to court."

Tunney is entering today upon his second week of training, tipping the scales at 192. Dempsey's intensive training began yesterday with the usual training stunts and a dozen rounds with his sparring partners before 2,000 who paid to see the champion in action. Word from the Tunney camp says 10,000 persons crowded the loads leading to Lake Pleasant to catch a glimpse of the challenger.

More Sour Grapes

One English newspaper seems to have joined the Argentinian Tira-boschi in his taste of sour grape, following the triumph of Miss Gertrude Ederle over the English channel.

The paper quotes an unuamed member of the Royal Yacht Club of Dover to the effect that Miss Ederle's success was due to an accident of the weather.

Why this gentleman wishes to be "an unnamed member" is only too apparent to us. Authors of poison pen letters are usually "unnamed," too. And in seeking to detract from the glory of the American swimmer's triumph this person places himself in the same class with the authors of poison pen missives.

This gentleman is declared to have given the tides and winds all the credit for the success of Miss Ederle's attempt. We wonder if it ever occurred to him that perhaps Miss Ederle planned to take advantage of the tides and winds. He also declares that the tug protected her from the waves. This is probably true, but is there any rule declaring that other swimmers may not make the same use of a tug? We think not, and the while statement looks much like an unreasonable and biased criticism directed at the United States through its representative, Gertrude Ederle.

Deadlocked

Perhaps the readers of this column (if any) are getting fed up on everything pertaining to the heavyweight battle which is to be staged in New York next month, but the whole affair is becoming so ludicrous as to make the latest move as funny as it is interesting, and we are daring the ire of our readers by taking a slant at the situation as it now stands.

Monday the attorney general of New York state ruled, in answer to the request of Commissioner Brower, that the license committee of the athletic commission has no power to refuse Dempsey a license to fight Gene Tunney.

FINE. That settled everything and representatives of the champ trotted over to the license bureau to get the parley over with and end the two-year squabble.

BUT the three "gentlemen of Erin" who comprise the per-sonnel of the permit board had different plans and they allowed in no uncertain terms that Mr. Dempsey would not get a license to meet Gene Tunney unless the champion agrees to first figh Harry Wills, the dusky stevedore who has been pursuing Jack

The most intriguing part of the whole mess is that the license board quotes a ruling of the commission as the reason for its action. And there you have it. We'll bite, who WILL win?

INSTALLMENT XX. THE WEDDING CEREMONY.

The days before her marriage seemed to Richenda to pass on winged feet. Everything had happened at a tremendous rate. She was swept off her balance with the rapidity of it all.

Brett was so determined. He had a sort of "now or never" look in his eye against which the girl found it difficult to battle.

He said but little about the coming wedding, but took all arrangements into his own hands, and Richenda found herself consulted on very few points. Somehow she liked the new masterful Brett Fairways all the better for this.

It was rather delightful to feel that the man she loved so deeply had taken over the ordering of her life completely. Nobody had ever taken care of her like this before. She had had to battle along lone as best she could, and oftimes the path had been hard and wearisome. Now all that was to be changed. Again came the conviction that destiny had arranged this new way along which her life should go. She would not fight against that destiny. She would follow this man of hers along the path he chose

She gave up teasing argument, tentative questioning.

Why should they wait? In a year's time she could scarcely love him more than she loved him now. It was impossible that she would love him less.

She trusted him implicitly, and Fairways held her to that trust. Lucille Davenant, too, was very kind. She entered enthusiastically into the talk of future plans with the girl.

Gradually Richenda lost some of her suspicion of this woman. Surely Lucille had made amends! No trace of jealousy was apparent in her demeanor. Indeed, as before, she showed every desire to make the path as pleasant as possible for the lovers.

Once she said a little pathetically: "Dickie, dear, would you think it perfectly awful if I asked to stay on with you for a little while after the wedding? I can get a berth on any boat going home till the end of next month, and it would be so terribly lonely sitting in a Nairobi hotel all by myself."

"Of course, you must stay on with us, Lucille," answered Richenda rously. "Why should we let this sudden marriage of ours spoil your holiday? Let us carry out the first arrangements and finish the

"I'm so glad, Dickie," Lucille sighed with evident relief, "I know Brett wouldn't mind. But perhaps you might have . . . you see, young wives usually want their husbands all to themselves."

"Not in modern times," laughed Richenda. But she didn't quite like that remark: "I knew Brett wouldn't mind!" The past tense suggested that the two had already come to a decision on this point.

She put the thought away from her, deeming it unworthy. Richenda had written several times to Angus Brodie, whose little coffee farm, she discovered, was only a few hours' journey from the encampment. The second week of their arrival on the hillside, Brodie had paid a surprise visit to her. "And how in the world did you get here?" cried Richenda, upon espying him.

"Why," he laughed, "the railway siding down there is the usual halfway house for petrol—and, as it is your postal address as well, I knew you wouldn't be far off. So, having nothing so terrifically urgent on hand just now, I thought I might spend the afternoon paying a call!" With the usual hospitality of the colonies, they instantly invited him to stay the night.

He needed but little persuasion.

"All going well, friend?" he found opportunity to whisper to

"I—I think I'm going to be very happy, Angus," she breathed. He gazed fixedly at her, read all there was to know in her smiling

"Think it over, dear," he said huskily—"walk slowly and very, carefully. And, Richenda, if ever you want advice or help, remember your promise to come to me."

She nodded. "Angus," she said, "there will never be any need to come. But still-

"If ever . . ." he began.

"Yes," she acquiesced. "If ever—then I'll come straight to you!"

The marriage ceremony was to take place at the district commissioner's office in the nearby hamlet. Then the party was to come back to the little encampbent on the hillside for at least another fortnight.

Privately Richenda thought this arrangement rather strange. But realized that her position in the matter was slightly awkward. If demanded the usual honeymoon seclusion, Lucille, who, after all. had joined this shooting trip understanding that it was to last several more weeks, would be most unjustifiably "at a loose end."

Besides, people didn't bother much about honeymoons these days,

And what could be better than a honeymoon in the wilds, even if there were a third person with them?

Anyway, she would have all the honeymoons she wanted alone with Brett after Lucille had caught her homeward bound boat. Fairways seemed to see nothing extraordinary in the continued presence of Mrs. Davenant after the wedding, nor apparently did he consider it unusual that they should spend pre-wedding and post-wedding days in the same encampment. Indeed, he did not discuss the subject at any great length. All his endeavors seemed to be towards hurrying the marriage forward as quickly as possible.

Richenda decided to let him drive his own course. Later on she would fashion things more as she wanted them to be. Just now circumstances were a little too strong for her.

Early one morning they walked down the hillside to meet the hired car which waited at the foot.

"Dickie is not going to drive into Abdera in that awful mule-gharry," Lucille had decreed. "And as for me—if I'm to do the 'dame of honor' business properly I insist on a smooth trip!"

They covered some twenty-five miles in moderate comfort. To Richenda it seemed a strange journey. Brett spoke but rarely; but, now and then she caught him smiling to himself. She realized suddenly that there were strange hidden depths in this lover which she had yet to plumb. Once she was caught by a sense of fear, and Angus Brodie's words came back to her: "Walk slowly . . . carefully." And she had not done either. Just as she had plunged suddenly headlong into love, so she was plunging headlong into marriage. She wondered what wise Jean Anderson would have said about it all. She would have been horrified, of course. horrified, of course.

"My dear, what is his income?" she would have asked. "And who is he, and where are you going to live?"

And Richenda couldn't have answered any of these things satisfactorily. She loved him. He was hers. That was enough. She would trust her dream of those months ago.

trust her dream of those months ago.

The wedding ceremony was very brief. Richenda vaguely murmured a few words, signed her name in a little blank space that some one's finger pointed out—saw Fairways sign his. She didn't even read the document. Then Brett kissed her, somebody else was shaking her hand, and Lucille was crying in a shrill, high voice: "All the luck in the world, Mrs. Fairways!"

Then they were hustling into the hired car again, en route for the encampment.

It seemed strange to Richenda. Not like a real wedding. Why, they had even forgotten to order a cake!

Then her spirits rose again. She was married—really married—and to this wonderful silent man who sat by her side.

Leaders in educational enterprises and women's clubs work continue to voice unqualified approval of the movement now under way to establish a $30,000 scholarship endowment fund for Tallulah Falls Industrial school, that fund to be named in honor of Mrs. John K. Ottley, president of the board of truetees, and the outstanding figure in the splendid development program which has made the school the pride of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Northcutt's Message.

Mrs. Northcutt's Message. From Mrs. Ralph Northeutt, of Marietta, Ga., comes this message: "I want to say ...at thousands of others feel—that I am most happy to know that I am most happy to know that the new endowment fund for Tallulah Falls school is to bear the name of Mrs. Ottley, thus perpetuating the great work she has done for humanity, not only in leading the Greater Tallulah enterprise, but in countless helpful acts both great and small, toward everybody and every good thing about her during many years.

"She is reaping what she has sowed.
and her sowing was not to the whirlwind, but in the fertile ground of human hearts and minds. I am so glad that one does not always have to die before the adoration and admiration of society is expressed to them!"

glad that one does not always have to die before the adoration and admiration of society is expressed to them?"

In this most fitting tribute to Mrs. Ottley, according recognition for the great service she has performed through long years, Mrs. Northeutt expresses the sentiment of thousands. As chairman of library extension for the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs Mrs. Northcutt is doing farreaching and notably constructive work for the state. Her years of fruitful service have brought her in close contact with Mrs. Ottley, herself a leader in library extensoin work, and no one is better qualified to appreciate the measure of Mrs. Ottley's contribution to the advancement of education in Georgia.

Beautiful, brilliant and charming, Mrs. Northcutt has utilized her rich attainments for t'e betterment of conditions in rural communities, where opportunities are limited and appreciation abundant. Nor has she neglected her immediate interests. For years Mrs. Northcutt and her husband have been leaders in Marietta's civic enterprises and no worthy undertaking but invites her active cooperation.

Fashion Show Plans.

Similar assurances of support for the movement to raise the $30,000 endowment fund for Tallulah Falls school are coming in from all sections of the state. Meanwhile the control committee of trustees, under the guidance of Mrs. T. T. Stevens, chairman, is daily reporting new contributions to the fund. Moreover, interest in the fashion revue to be staged by M. Rich Brothers & Co. in the city additorium on September 14 is growing steadily.

With Lewis J. Morton, producer of Atlanta's municipal light operas, taking over responsibility for directing the reynue and giving his services in that connection, Mrs. Eugene Harrington, chairman for the event, is redoubling her efforts to make it the most brilliant affair of the season. Several celebrities have already promised to participate in the revue and many attractive numbers are being arranged to supplement the fashion feature.

VICE IN ATLANTA TERMED TYPICAL OF NATION'S DECAY

In his morning sermon at First Methodist church, Dr. Elam F. Demp-sey, filling the pulpit in the absence of the pastor, Sunday discussed the theme, "Disobediance to God the Doom theme, "Disobediance to God the Doom of the Nation." His text was Jeremiah 29: 15-19. Among other things Dr. Dempsey said, "The God of the Bible is revealed as not only the God of the individual soul, but of nations as well. 'Blessed is that people whose God is the Lord,' says the psalmist, and all history responds with an emphatic amen. On the other hand, the doom of a nation that forgets God is as dark as the blessing of the nation which remembers God is bright." nation which remembers bright."

"Local conditions in our own city of Atlanta, better as they are than in many cities, are still typical of the decay of the nation's sense of the duty to obey the laws which we ourselves have made and to herten and encourhave made and to herten and encourage all who are given to the task of enforcing those laws. From his grave the blood of Bert Donaldson cries against everyone who has given comfort to lawbreakers. The voice of every other agency of good citizenship in this community should be heard rebuking this dastardly crime and notifying the underworld that evil does a shall not go unwhipped of justice when the state of the community should be the community of the community ers shall not go unwhipped of jus-tice. Destruction of crime is obedi-ence to God."

AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, August 16.—(P)—The cotton market was very active and buoyant today and prices advanced sharply owing to a veritable crop scare, due to alarming reports of the spread of insect pest and the damage wrought by them. These reports were especially numerous from Texas and declared that there was an urgent demand for poisons from every available source of supply. Another stimulating influence vas the map showing of general rains over the cotton belt since Saturday and reports received during the day, claiming that it was still raining at many points. As Liverpool was about as due and early advices showed numerous rains over Sundays the market opened 9 to 15 points higher, and although there was some minores tions during the day, the tendency was consistently upward and all active months reached their highest levels in the final trading, showing was consistently upward and all active months reached their highest levels in the final icading, showing advances over Saturday's close of 57 to 59 points. The close was near the top, showing net gains for the day of 55 to 57 points. The market soon advanced and was on the upgrade all day except for a slight reaction at mid-session. Prices crossed the 17-cent line in the late trading for October and December with the former at 17.10 and the latter at 17.03 or 57 to 59 points above Saturday's close. January came within a point of reaching the 17-cent line at 16.99 or 16 points above the previous close. The market closed virtually at the top.

A private authority estimated the condition a 68.5 and the indicated yield at 15.787.000 bales. Exports for the day totaled 20.862, bales.

The failure of the directors of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey to increase the common dividend and announce plans for the retirement of the preferred, dampened speculative enthusiasm for the oil group. Humble, Praire and Standard Oil of Kentucky fell back a point or so, and a number of others yielded fractionally, Tidal Osage, however, moved up to a new Osage, however, moved up to a new 1926 high.

Holders of oil securities derived some encouragement from the state-ment of Nelson R. Moody, president of the Prairie Oil and Gas company. who was quoted as saying that the industry was sound and that he looked for nothing to happen that would menace the underlying stability of the industry in the near future.

Baking shares failed to attract the attention they did last week, although Continental "A" advanced 1 1-2 points on a small turnover. Coal shares were firm, motors held fairly steady in quiet trading. Goodyear Tire made moderate improvement, with buying presumably influenced by the drop in crude rubber prices.

Substantial gains were recorded Substantial gains were recorded by a number of ordinarily inactive specialties. Singer Manufacturing jumped over 10 points to 380 1-8: Phelps Dodge was bid up over 8 points to 130, and Alabama Great Southern railroad common and preferred and Tubize Art Silk climbed 3 to nearly 9 points. Stanley Company of America and Warner Pictures attained new 1926 highs.

Slaying Details In Derham Case To Be Withheld

Whitstable, England, August 16.—

(P)—The detailed story of the killing of John Adams Derham, with which Alphonse Francis Austin Smith is charged, will remain a secret until August 30. The coroner's inquest into the tragedy, which occurred at the Smith residence, Stella Maris villa, Friday night, was adjourned after brief testimony was submitted today.

The public's appetite for the revelations had been whetled by sensational stories of the case, which has to do with notable families, and crowds packed the little parish hall for the inquest proceedings, which in this country often assume the character of a trial, with lengthy evidence.

Derham's aged father brought an abrupt end to the hearing by declining to divulge his son's alleged death statement. The coroner did not press for answers, saying he would wait until both sides were represented by til both sides were represented by

Mrs. Smith, who is reputed to have been the cause of the quarrel be-tween her husband and Derham, ar-tived at the inquest with the elder Derham. She appeared variables rived at the inquest with the elder Derham. She appeared very young. She is Smith's second wife, they having been married after his first wife, formerly Miss Ruth Wynne, daughter of a former United States postmaster general, divorced him. Jealousy over Derham's attentions to her is believed to have led to a fight between Smith and Derham after the three had supped together at a hotel and re-turned to the Smiths' residence. Although Smith is credited with once having an income of $750,000 annually he had recently been in somewhat straitened circumstances, and the house where he and his family

It appears that he got an occasional financial windfall, and it was in cele-bration of one of these that the Smiths and Derham had a dinner party which was followed by the shooting.

PARACHUTE DEATH SUBJECT OF RADER SERMON TONIGHT

Jimmy Calhoun's fatal drop at Lakewood park Sunday will be the subject of the sermon, "Plunging Through Eternity," to be delivered at 7:30 o'clock tonight by the Rev. Luke Rader, pastor of Central Baptist church, at the revival airdome on Forsyth street, at the Whitehall intersection.

The tragedy at Lakewood has "The tragedy at Lakewood has a broader meaning than the simple fact that the parachute jumper met his death at an instant when he seemed to be at least expecting trouble and when he was, perhaps, least prepared to meet his God," Mr. Rader asserted. "I believe there is a bigger lead on the best proper of the best pro in that boy's tragic death, one that may mean regeneration for thou-sands of reckless boys and men who

Services at the airdome are to continue throughout this week nightly at satte

WIDOW OF WILSON AROUSES INTEREST IN GREAT BRITAIN

London, August 16.—Mrs. Wood-row Wilson, who has been visiting in Scotland, will leave soon for the Sep-tember session of the League of Na-tions assembly, and the regularity of these league visits by the wartime president's widow has aroused inter-athere.

It is even reported here that Mrs. Wilson's annual pilgrimages to Geneva are in fulfillment of a promise she made the late president on his deathbed. Some claim that Woodrow Wilson, when he knew he was dying, asked his wife to go to every assembly of the league to remind the delegates of the purposes and ideals which caused the league's formation.

MARQUIS FLAYS WEALTHY ENGLISH ON LIVING MODES

Daventry. England, August 16.—
(P)—The Marquis of Northampton holds that many rich people in England are dirty and have been badly brought up. He so expressed himself in a recent speech at the grammar school there.

"I know many rich people who have never been clean all their lives because they have never been taught otherwise," he said. The noble marquis also took a slap at the cooking in English homes, which he declared was worse than in any other country be had visited.

Mrs. J. H. Akins, of Decatur, was taken to Grady hospital in a semi-conscious condition early Monday night by her husband after she leaped driving and was about to stop at the time of the mishap.

Mrs. Akins sustained a deep lacera tion on the head and appeared to be suffering from internal injuries. After being revived at the hospital clinic, she told doctors that she had been in a nervous condition following an oper-ation more than a year ago. She as-signed no reason for her leap from the signed no reason for her leap from the antomobile.

Mr. Akins told doctors at the hospital that his wife suddenly wanted to get out of the car, which was going about 50 miles an hour, and after he had decreased the speed of the car to about five miles an hour, she put her little boy out of her lap and jumped from the moving car. He picked her up and rushed her to the hospital.

Doctors were not told where the accident happened and no record has been filed at police station.

W. T. Utt, 77, of 110 Forsyth street, was treated at Grady hospital Monday afteraoon for a fractured hip he told doctors he received when knocked down by an automobile at Five Points. Mr. Utt did not know the name of the driver of the automobile which struck him and no report of the accident has been filed at police station.

United States Senator Walter F. Seorge will speak at 11 o'clock today in the courthouse at Jonesboro, and since this is the first appearance of the senator at a speaking date near Atlanta a large crowd of Atlanta people have planned to go to Jonesboro to hear the address.

Senator George spoke Monday before a large crowd at Lafayette, in Walker county, and will speak Saturday at Lawrenceville, in Gwinnett county.

Walker county, and will speak Saturday at Lawrenceville, in Gwinnett county.

In the present campaign Senator George is making a clear and concise address, in which he discusses various measures before the senate recently, and which probably will arise in the next few months. He has indulged in no "mud-slinging," and seldom refers to his opponent by name.

Senator George will spend a few hours in Atlanta after his speech at Jonesboro.

In his speech at Lafayette Senator George outlined the many important measures which will be decided by the next congress, and said many of the measures of vital importance to Georgia and the south have been before committees of which he is a member and will be brought before the senate for action as early as possible after the senate convenes.
